com.google.common.collect.HashBiMap; import com.google.common.collect.HashBiMap.Builder; import com.google.common.collect.ImmutableBiMap; import com.google.common.collect.ImmutableMap; import com.google.common.collect.ImmutableSet; import com.google.common.collect.Iterables; import com.google.common.collect.Maps; But the result is: Cannot resolve symbol 'Function' Cannot resolve symbol 'Predicate'

Cannot resolve symbol 'Predicates' ... Does it mean this libraries doesn't support IntelliJ IDEA? A: As you can see from the warnings, the libraries that you are importing are not compatible with IDEA (which has its own internal libraries for functionalities). It would mean that Google had done some stupid change, so I'd recommend you to have a closer look at their libraries (at least their versions) and decide what you want to use before using them. How to Get More Bedsides How to Get More Bedsides By: Taylor Nash Kelly How do you get more bedsides? Dear Taylor: It seems like there is always a struggle to make the bedsides - that is, the tables with two or three benches on each side - look good. The most difficult table is the one with the benches on both sides. I try to let everything
